

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT AND BUILDING TEAM CHEMISTRY

Dishnow & Associates

PO Box 582
Iron Mountain, MI 49801-1215
Phone: 715.696.6230
Fax: 715.696.6240
Email: jdishnow@up.net

Frank Novak finished his third season as a football performance special teams consultant with the Green Bay Packers in May 2006. He has spent six years with the Packers, a franchise that was rated as the best professional sports organization by ESPN's magazine in 2003. He has been a football coach in the NFL for 16 years with the Houston Oilers, the Detroit Lions, the San Diego Chargers, and the Green Bay Packers. Frank knows the importance of team chemistry, developing talent, and leadership. He brings a rich speaking background having presented for a variety of sports banquets, for our armed forces, and for several major corporations. In 2005, he was a keynote speaker at Raytheon Corporation's Global Marketing Convention in San Diego. In 2006 he addressed Coldwell Banker's International Business Conference in San Francisco.

TEAM CHEMISTRY IN A COMPETITIVE WORLD

- Culture of Collaboration: Teamwork in Business
- Team Chemistry and Core Values
- Success Requirements

Novak was a valuable contributor to the Packers as the special teams group ranked fourth in the NFL on field goal percentage in 2003, up from sixth in 2002 and fifth on kickoff returns, up from 26th in 2002, with a 23.6-yard average. The Packers were one of two teams in the NFC that did not surrender to a blocked punt or field goal. The 2003 kickoff coverage team ranked sixth in the NFC, limiting opponent returners to an average of 20.8 yards per runback, and the punt coverage unit ranked seventh in the conference, holding opponents to an average of 9.9 yards per return.

NOVAK AT A GLANCE

- Joined Packers on Feb. 9, 2000; retired as special teams coach Jan. 10, 2003, but remained on staff as special teams consultant.
- Has 35 year's experience in the coaching profession, including 14 NFL seasons, two USFL campaigns and 19 college seasons.
- Served the 1981-83 seasons on the same Holy Cross staff with Packers linebackers coach Mark Duffner
- One of a few father/son combinations working in the NFL, son Jason is the assistant strength and conditioning coach for the Tennessee Titans.
- Earned NCAA Division II honorable mention All-America honors from the Associated Press in 1961 as a quarterback at Northern Michigan University.